

Curriculum Vitae

Lars Lind, MD, PhD

Born in May 31st 1956

Current position

as Professor of Medicine at the University Hospital of Uppsala, Sweden since July 1st 2008, including 30 % clinical work.

Head of the Vascular Research Laboratory at the University Hospital of Uppsala, Sweden

Principal investigator of the PIVUS study (for details, see www.medsci.uu.se – pivus). My main research area is CV epidemiology with special reference to vascular structure and function.

Currently chief supervisor for 3 PhD students and joint supervisor for another 6.

Past positions were specialist trainings 1984-1994 in Gävle county hospital and Uppsala University hospital in Anaesthesia and Internal Medicine. PhD in Internal Medicine in May 8th 1988 at Uppsala University. Ass professor in Experimental Medicine in 1992 at Uppsala University 1994-1999 Consultant in Internal Medicine at Uppsala University hospital. 1999-2006 senior principal scientist at AstraZeneca R&D Mölndal, in combination with 20% adjunct professor in cardiovascular medicine at Uppsala University 2000-2006. Full-time Guest Professor in Emergency Medicine from 2007 at Uppsala University hospital. .

Chief supervisor for 22 graduated PhD students: Joint supervisor for 7 completed PhD thesis.

300 published original papers in peer reviewed journals, such as Lancet, JAMA, Br Med J, Circulation, JACC, etc.